

Kent Farms, Inc. vs. Zurich Insurance Company

Year: 1998

Court: Washington State Supreme Court

Case Number: 67635-6

Insurance companies cannot abrogate their insurance policies by applying in practice a more restrictive interpretation of coverage than what was represented to the insurance commissioners in order to obtain approval of the language of the policy and associated premiums.

UP's brief was written pro bono by John Hoglund, Esq. and John A. MacDonald, Esq. of Anderson Kill & Olick, PC. Of Counsel: Amy Bach, Esq.
