

Overwhelmed? Uncertain? Emotionally exhausted?

JFS is making it easy to get help after the fires with

10 FREE COUNSELING SESSIONS

More than 200 licensed, private practice therapists to choose from. JFS funds counseling sessions so you and your family can get the support you need.

1

REGISTER ONLINE

Complete a short, online registration:
jewishfamilyservice.org/bccc

2

CHOOSE A THERAPIST

Choose a licensed, private practice therapists from our panel (over 200)

3

SCHEDULE & BEGIN

Contact your chosen provider directly. Start your journey to support yourself and your family

PROGRAM INFORMATION

Boulder County residents seeking support for mental health concerns such as acute stress, depression, anxiety, and PTSD due to the local wildfires are eligible to receive up to 10 free individual or family counseling sessions.

ABOUT THE FUND

In response to the wildfires and the COVID-19 pandemic, JFS and the Community Foundation of Boulder County have partnered to offer the Boulder County Crisis Counseling (BCCC) program to impacted households.

This program is a partnership between JFS and the Community Foundation of Boulder County; funded by their Boulder County Wildfire Relief Fund.