

California proposes rule that would change how insurers assess wildfire risk

SF Chronicle

Insurance companies in California currently use historical data to assess wildfire risk. A proposal would allow them to use catastrophe modeling instead.

Read more.