

Choosing the right homeowner's insurance coverage

Larimer County, Colorado

When an emergency strikes and damages your home, knowing what's covered in your homeowner's insurance is essential in the recovery process.

Homeowner's insurance is crucial to owning a home, and recent changes in insurance costs and coverage might have homeowners wondering about their coverage. Homeowners in some areas may have experienced recent increases in their insurance rates from a higher risk associated with natural disasters.

Larimer County Assessor Bob Overbeck urges homeowners, especially those who live in an area where the chances of wildfire or other disasters might occur, to view an upcoming webinar at 5 p.m., June 18, sponsored by United Policyholders. Overbeck said, "This webinar will be beneficial for property owners, providing them with valuable insights into homeowners insurance, risk management, and information on coverage-related issues."

The Colorado Home Insurance Shopping Help Webinar is valuable for property owners in Larimer County to benefit the most from their homeowner's insurance. Reserve a spot for the webinar at <https://uphelp.org/events/2025-co-r2p/>.

The webinar is an informal, informational online discussion for homeowners to share experiences and problem-solve with trained volunteers about insurance issues and solutions they might encounter after an emergency strikes.

United Policyholders is a nonprofit information resource and voice for insurance consumers in the United States. UP was formed in 1991 by an attorney to help level the playing field between homeowners and insurers.
