

Purely a bad idea - "Purely Cosmetic" Exclusion

MANY THANKS - Your support this year has allowed us to serve over 223,101 people in these towns and cities across the US.

And we're not done yet ...

Thanks for giving: Your ideas and your skills Thanks for putting UP in your wills! Thanks for the info, donations and scoop Thanks to those who keep us in the loop

Now here's our tip for the month of November A question we want you all to remember Yes after you read this, go 'head and pose it Lets hope you buy insurance through someone who knows it

The information presented in this publication is for general informational purposes and is not a substitute for legal advice. If you have a specific legal issue or problem, United Policyholders recommends that you consult with an attorney. Guidance on hiring professional help can be found in the "Find Help" section of www.uphelp.org. United Policyholders does not sell insurance or certify, endorse or warrant any of the insurance products, vendors, or professionals identified on our website. Source: https://uphelp.org/purely-a-bad-idea-purely-cosmetic-exclusion/ Date: November 22, 2024

Does the policy you're counting on, paying good dough for Have a new exclusion that leaves you little to show for? The charming label that's used to describe it Is "Purely Cosmetic" – (we hope you won't find it)

'Cause in the event of hail, scratching, or marring You may find your insurer's reaction quite jarring "Oh no, that's not covered"' (just what you don't want to hear)

So rather than worry and wonder and fear Do your best to find out 'fore the end of this year Avoid this most onerous reduction in protection, "Just say no" if you have a choice or election

The information presented in this publication is for general informational purposes and is not a substitute for legal advice. If you have a specific legal issue or problem, United Policyholders recommends that you consult with an attorney. Guidance on hiring professional help can be found in the "Find Help" section of www.uphelp.org. United Policyholders does not sell insurance or certify, endorse or warrant any of the insurance products, vendors, or professionals identified on our website. Source: https://uphelp.org/purely-a-bad-idea-purely-cosmetic-exclusion/ Date: November 22, 2024