With the jazz sounds of a Sonoma State student combo and a very special setting as our backdrop, a crowd of over 160 people celebrated three decades of UP's important work, toasted to collaboration in the aftermath of the devastating 2017 wildfires in this region, and to disaster resiliency.

Thanks to all who participated, we will be closing out another impactful year with enhanced resources to continue working toward:

- Trustworthy disaster recovery guidance & support
- Fair, prompt and full insurance claim payouts to loss victims

UP to Good Virtual

In addition to our in-person event we hosted a virtual party and guided wine tasting to celebrate our three decades of work. We brought together friends, family and supporters from across the country who share our commitment to empowering the insured. The party featured three delicious wines and three inspirational videos.

Tristan Harris, the star of The Social Dilemma joined UP's Executive Director, Amy Bach for a brief conversation on the asymmetry of power between insurance companies and disaster survivors and how he benefited from UP's services after losing his family home to a wildfire.

UP's Executive Director Amy Bach presented UP's Lifetime Achievement Award to William "Chip" Merlin, Esq. for extraordinary dedication to our organization's mission and exemplary professional services to policyholders.

California Insurance Commissioner Ricardo Lara congratulating United Policyholders' for 30 years of service and coordination with his agency to assist policyholders.
